

Hogan Aggregates is a member of the Hogan group of companies which extracts, processes, markets and supplies aggregate products to the construction industry. It operates in compliance with relevant regulatory and statutory requirements, applies best practice to its activities, and produces materials to recognised product standards and specifications.

To ensure the company's continued success, it is dedicated to delivering a quality service which satisfies the needs and expectations of its customers, within a safe working and sustainable environment. To assist in achieving this aim, Hogan Aggregates operates a Quality Management System which is certificated to ISO 9001:2015 and for the Factory Production Control system for Aggregates for Asphalt BS EN 13043, EN12620 Aggregates for Concrete. It is also committed to continually improving its performance and the effectiveness of its management systems by regularly reviewing its arrangements against defined objectives and targets.

The directors of Hogan Aggregates are committed to ensuring that all employees are trained to understand the quality management system and that they are aware of their responsibility for delivering quality services and products, consistent with customer requirements.
